

Six Students Named To Phi Beta Kappa, Scholastic Honorary

Dr. C. A. Anderson Is Chapter President

Six students have been elected into Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary society, Prof. Margaret B. Humphreys, secretary of the UK chapter, announced yesterday. They will be initiated on Jan. 23, she said.

New members are James Thomas Bradbury, Mildred Louise Hart, Paul Douglas Holleman, Molly Ann McCouff, Jack Evans Woodhouse, and William Leonard Howell. They were elected at a meeting last Friday, and each was notified by a special delivery letter.

Howell, a victim of polio, was initiated last Monday at St. Joseph Hospital where he is confined in an iron lung. A senior majoring in political science, Howell has a 2.6 standing. He would have been graduated in June.

Jim Bradbury, who has a 2.7 standing, is majoring in chemistry. He is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity, Interfraternity Council, Student Government Association, Omicron Delta Kappa, and American Chemical Society. He is a former member of Phi Eta Sigma, Keys, and Lances, and is president of Lamp and Cross.

Mildred Hart, with a 2.8 standing, is a bacteriology major. She will be graduated in June and plans to go into medical technology. She belongs to Mortar Board, Bacteriology Club, and is on the council at Jewell Hall. She is a former member of Alpha Lambda Delta.

Paul Holleman, a pre-law student, has a 2.7 standing. He is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity, IFC, Lamp and Cross, and SGA. He is president of ODK and former president of Patterson Literary Society. He belonged to Lances and Phi Eta Sigma and was recently a candidate for a Rhodes Scholarship.

Molly McCouff, who will receive her degree in medical technology next June, has a standing of 2.8. She belongs to Mortar Board, Phi Beta, and is president of the Bacteriology Club. She is a former member of Omicron Delta Kappa and Alpha Lambda Delta.

Jack Woodhouse is a graduate student in ancient languages. He has a 2.6 standing.

Phi Beta Kappa is a society devoted to the "recognition of intellectual attainment" in the liberal arts and sciences. The society was founded in 1776 at the College of William and Mary in Virginia and was the first society to have a Greek name. There are about 150 chapters of the honorary in America.

The UK chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, which was organized in 1926, has host last September to the triennial convention of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa. Over 100 American colleges and universities visited the campus.

Officers of the UK chapter are Dr. C. A. Anderson, professor of sociology, president; Dr. Carl B. Cone, professor of history, vice president; Prof. Margaret B. Humphreys, professor of commerce, secretary; and Dr. James C. Humphries, professor of bacteriology, treasurer.

Seniors In Education May Apply For Jobs

"All seniors in Education who want jobs this next semester or next year should register immediately," urged Mrs. D. C. Kemper, secretary of the University Placement Service.

Although about one third of the students who should register, have, Mrs. Kemper noted that many of the seniors now they will be going into the service when they graduate or will continue their education on some extra GI money.

About 50 per cent of the requests sent to the Teacher Placement Bureau, now a part of the University Placement Service, in the last few years have been for elementary teachers, Mrs. Kemper stated, but only two of the 25 who have registered majored in elementary education.

"Salaries for elementary teachers were formerly below that of secondary teachers, but they are now becoming equalized," Mrs. Kemper commented.

Less than 30 per cent of the graduates in Education are placed in schools out of the state, but, Mrs. Kemper emphasized, they are nearly always natives of that state to begin with.

Most of the Education graduates placed in Kentucky are accepted in Jefferson and Fayette counties. These two counties send more students to UK than any others, according to the registrar's office.

Large industrial centers like Dayton, O., for example, ask for a great number of teachers, but few University seniors in Education want to work there, Mrs. Kemper said.

The Bureau receives many bulletins from schools out of the state, and the starting wage there is close to that in Kentucky, Mrs. Kemper explained.

Engineer College To Serve As Host For Coal Meeting

The College of Engineering at UK will serve as host for a meeting of the Education Committee of the National Coal Association today and tomorrow, it has been announced.

Also taking part in the conference and co-operating with the University in its staging will be the Education Committee of the Kentucky Mining Institute. The state committee was invited by the national organization to participate in the affair.

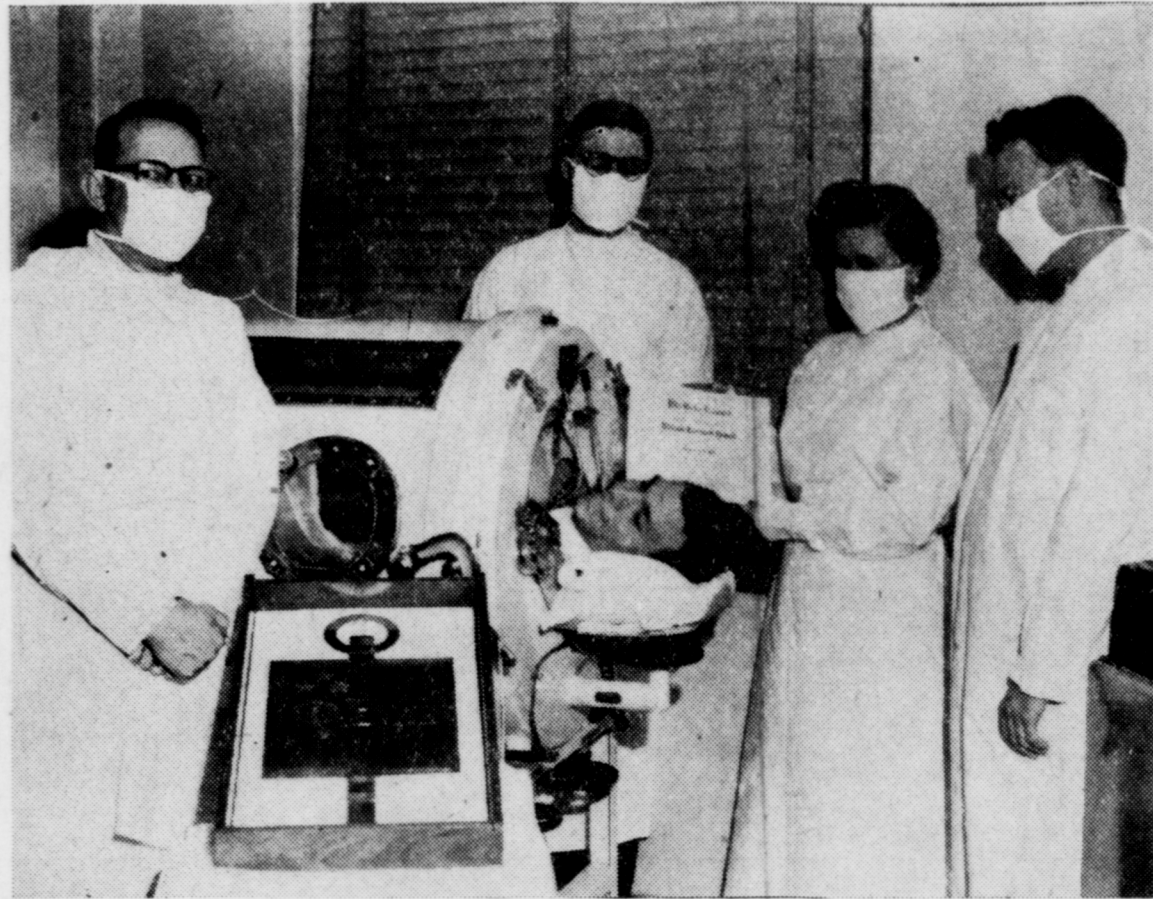

Among the main sessions of the national event will be a dinner meeting Friday night in the Student Union when University President H. L. Donovan will speak. His topic will be "Highlights in the History of the University of Kentucky."

Henry C. Woods of the national committee will preside at the dinner. Opening function of the meeting will be a luncheon at noon today on the campus. Presiding will be Daniel V. Terrell, dean of the UK College of Engineering, and the principal speaker will be Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, University vice-president.

Today's program will include short lectures by University specialists in mining engineering and related fields. Speakers for these sessions include the following:

Prof. C. S. Crouse, head of the Department of Mining and Metallurgical Engineering; Dr. Roy E. Shaver, head of the Department of Civil Engineering; Dr. H. Alex Romanowicz, head of the Department of Electrical Engineering; Prof. E. B. Penrod, head of the Department of Mechanical Engineering; John A. Stokley, instructor in geology; and Ernest M. Spokes, associate professor of mining engineering.

A three-hour business session tomorrow morning will close the meeting.

New Phi Beta Kappa—William Leonard Howell, stricken with polio while completing his studies at UK, was initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary, this week at a special ceremony in the St. Joseph's hospital isolation ward where he is confined in an iron lung. Present for the ceremony were, from left to right, Dr. C. A. Anderson, Dr. Carl B. Cone, Prof. Margaret B. Humphreys, and Dr. James C. Humphries, members of the honorary. In the foreground is pictured the symbolic key.

Polio Victim Awarded Key By Honorary

"I was really surprised," Bill Howell, UK student suffering from polio, said this week concerning his election into Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary for liberal arts students.

Howell, a senior majoring in political science, was initiated into the society last Monday in a ceremony that took place in the isolation ward of St. Joseph Hospital where he is confined in an iron lung. Officers of the local chapter said they believed this was the first time a Phi Beta Kappa key has been presented to a polio patient.

Dr. C. A. Anderson, professor of sociology and president of the UK chapter, presented Howell with a certificate of membership. Dr. Amy Vandebosch, head of the Political Science Department, sent Howell a letter of congratulations from the department. The letter was read by Mrs. Howell who was present for the ceremony.

Others present were Dr. Carl B. Cone, chapter vice president, Prof. Margaret B. Humphreys, secretary, and Dr. James C. Humphries, treasurer.

Howell, who was stricken with polio last October, has a 2.6 standing. He normally would have been graduated next June. He and his wife and their 16-month-old son, Stephen, live in Cooperstown.

Arrangements for the ceremony were made by James M. Molloy, chairman of the Fayette County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and chairman of the Fayette County March of Dimes unit.

Howell was moved Wednesday to the veterans' hospital in Louisville. A graduate of Taylorsville High School, Howell is the son of Mrs. Florence Howell, Rosedale, Long Island, N. Y. Before being stricken with polio, he was active in intramural sports on the University campus. He served in the U. S. Navy for two and a half years.

Suky Begins Plans For UK May Day

Bob Schattner, Commerce sophomore, was named temporary May Day chairman, Angel Levas, Suky president, announced this week.

Others placed on the committee were Joyce Ahman, Neil Asher, Julie Blumenthal, Jenny Calvert, John Faulkner, Elizabeth Fischer, Bob Finn, Beth Galvin, Carol Gugel, Peggy Matlock, Diane Renaker and Marilyn Wilson.

Suky is investigating the possibility of having a name band at the annual May Day dance. A Suky member suggested that "the May Day festivities be extended to an entire week-end rather than just one day."

Due to the slack spring semester the circle decided to meet every other Monday. The executive committee will meet every week. Since there are two vacancies on the executive board, all graduating seniors will meet with the advisory group. The circle voted to discontinue the tryout meetings until second semester.

Doris McGary, Arts and Sciences junior, was appointed committee chairman for the annual athletic club picnic.

The next regular meeting of the Suky circle will be Monday, Feb. 16.

Musicale To Feature University Orchestra

The University Orchestra will make its first appearance of the season under the direction of Dr. Edwin Stein, head of the Department of Music, at 4 p.m. Sunday in Memorial Coliseum in another of the UK Sunday Afternoon Musicales.

The Orchestra is composed largely of students, a few faculty members, and some townspeople. They appear several times during the year in orchestral programs and as accompanying media for the larger choral works.

Dr. Stein received a bachelor's degree from Michigan State College and a masters' and doctorate from the Eastman School of Music, Rochester. He is a flutist and has been a member of the Eastman Symphony, Nashville Symphony Orchestra, and the Kansas City Philharmonic.

Miss Barbara Weesner of Indianapolis, Indiana, junior piano major at the University, will be featured on Sunday's program. Miss Weesner will play the first movement of Schumann's Concerto for Piano and Orchestra in A Minor.

Miss Thelma Mattox, Lexington, graduate student, will play the English Horn solo in the second movement of Dvorak's Symphony.

The program will include "Overture to 'Egmont,' Op. 84," by Beethoven; "Concerto for Piano and Orchestra in A minor, p. 54," by Schumann; and "Symphony in E minor, No. 5, Op. 95 (from the 'New World')," by Dvorak.

Exam Is Scheduled For Engineer Jobs

Senior civil engineering students who would like to work in California after graduation can qualify through a civil service examination to be given on a nationwide basis Feb. 28. Applications must be in the hands of the California State Personnel Board, Sacramento, by Jan. 31.

Graduates can go to work at once on California's highway program, the board said. Mid-year graduates may apply for temporary appointment and qualify by examination later.

Positions exist in nearly all parts of California, the board said. The beginning rank is junior civil engineer, with a starting salary $341 a month, and a top of $395. Frequent promotional opportunities occur.

The examination will be given at or near all campuses where there are qualified applicants. Descriptive bulletins and applications for the California exam are available from the campus placement officer.

Horowitz Will Play Jan. 26

Vladimir Horowitz, concert pianist, will be featured in the year's first concert of the Central Kentucky Community Concert and Lecture Series at 8 p.m. Friday, Jan. 26 in Memorial Coliseum.

Horowitz, now on his 24th concert tour in the United States, graduated from the Kiev Conservatory, and made his formal debut in Kharkov, Russia in 1920. This year marks the 25th anniversary of his debut in this country.

He intends to celebrate his anniversary in New York, with a performance of Tchaikovsky's Piano Concerto in B-Flat Minor No. 1, which was the same program he played for his debut with the Philharmonic Symphony, Sir Thomas Beecham conducting.

In 1952, the Concert series included the London Symphony Orchestra, and the Jaroff Male Chorus.

Other programs in the 1953 series are as follows: Boston Pops Orchestra, Monday, Feb. 2; All George Gershwin Program, Thursday, Feb. 19; Dorothy Kirsten and Richard Tucker Joint Recital, Monday, Feb. 23; and a lecture by Senator William Fulbright, Ark., on a date as of yet unannounced.

Popular Professor Nominations Held At Student Union

Nominations in the Newman Club's fifth annual Popular Professor contest are being held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. today at the ticket booth of the Student Union.

The four candidates in Arts and Sciences receiving the most votes, and the two top nominees in every other college, will be selected for the finals. The election will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 20 at the Student Union ticket booth.

The Popular Professor will reign as Rex of the Mardi Gras ball, which will be held on Feb. 21. His queen will be chosen from nominees of all women's residence units, who will be judged Feb. 16.

Previous winners in the contest and their queens have been Prof. Rhea A. Taylor, Department of History, and Sandy Morgan, KAT, 1949; Prof. R. D. McIntyre, College of Commerce, and Ann Guthrie, KKG, 1950; Prof. J. M. Schreyer, Department of Chemistry, and Alice Stansbury, KAT, 1951; and Prof. Taylor and Carmen Pigue, XO, who reigned last year.

'Colonel Of Week' Accepts Applicants

Students wishing to be considered as candidates for Colonel of the Week may apply by leaving a brief list of their qualifications in the Kernel newsroom or with Mrs. Mary Anne Good in the main Journalism office. Colonels are chosen on the basis of scholarship, service, and activities.

Applications should include name, address, phone number, home town, year in school, college, major, and overall standing, as well as school organizations, honors, activities and offices, both past and present.

Horace Heidt Talent Show Due In March

Honoraries To Sponsor Appearance

The new Horace Heidt show, a musical featuring popular tunes, local talent and other attractions presented against a background of a big top circus, will appear at 8:00 p.m. Wednesday, March 4 at the Memorial Coliseum.

The show will be presented for one night only under the sponsorship of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary; Lances, junior men's leadership society; and Omicron Delta Kappa, senior men's honorary.

A special added attraction, A Night at the Circus, will bring clowns and sideshow attractions, with many new faces and entertainers together with many of the Horace Heidt regulars. The Horace Heidt organization has combined their many separate units into this big anniversary show to be seen for the first time in Lexington.

Youthful talent, 14 years and older, of Lexington and the surrounding territory, will have the opportunity to audition before a representative of the Horace Heidt organization. The audition time has not been announced. Any ambitious or talented individuals may audition, but they must bring their own music and accompanist.

This representative will be here for the purpose of discovering youthful, deserving talent to appear with Horace Heidt and perhaps go on to future work in the entertainment world. Two contestants will be selected from among the youth of the community.

Paul Holleman, president of ODK, said, "We wanted to bring something a little different to the UK campus and we're sure that this show will provide entertainment for everybody."

Tickets will soon be on sale at the Memorial Coliseum office. Prices will be $1.30, $1.50 and $2.50.

'Miss Margie' Given Award By The Pope

Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, emeritus assistant professor of Journalism at UK, has been honored by Pope Pius XII with the award, "Pro Pontifice et Ecclesia," "for outstanding contributions to the welfare of religion and society in general."

The Most Rev. William T. Mulloy, Catholic bishop of the Covington diocese, announced Jan. 9 that the award, in the form of a medal and a citation, will be presented to the Lexingtonian at a special ceremony.

Known as "Miss Margie" to students at UK, Miss McLaughlin has been a member of St. Peter's church since its organization in 1900.

She is a member of the Immaculate Conception Sodality, the Altar Society, the Catholic Women's League, St. Joseph's Aid Society and Te Deum Forum and is president of the St. Peter's parish branch of the National Council of Catholic Women and public relations chairman of the Covington Diocesan Board of NCCW.

Miss McLaughlin was received by Pope Pius XII in 1952, when she made the Holy Year pilgrimage to Rome, and on four other occasions.

The Papal award, "Pro Pontifice et Ecclesia" originated in 1888 as a memorial of the golden jubilee of Pope Leo XIII. It has been conferred by his successors in recognition of outstanding service to the Pope and to the Catholic church.

'Old-Time' Drama Will Open Tonight For Two-Day Run

"The Drunkard," a musical melodrama, will be presented at 8 o'clock tonight and Saturday night by the Guignol Players in the Laboratory Theater of the Fine Arts Building. The play is directed by Don Clayton, who adapted it from the famous play of the 1850's. In addition, he wrote both words and music for the seven songs in the show.

Cast members include Bill Eddy, the drunkard; Sue Jackson, his wife; Sue Nail, his mother-in-law; and Barbara Francis, his daughter. Jim Holloway plays the villain; Lynn Deitelhoff, a barmaid; Betty Holzapfel and Loraine McCrone, barflies; and Charles Neal, an innkeeper.

Claire Wood plays a spinster; Don Hartford is the country boy she pursues; and Lillis Beam is his half-witted sister. Marshall Amos portrays a reformer; Sonya Hess is a country woman; Gay Hamilton plays a siren; and Jim Read, Tom Shirley and Tom Gover are customers in a bar.

The production staff includes Dolly Sullivan, stage manager; Neal, Amos, Shirley and Jim Hurt, stage crew; Read, electrician; Gover, makeup man and prompter; Frances Wilson, wardrobe mistress, and Miss Wood, programs.

Tickets will be available for twenty-five cents each at the Guignol box office on performance nights.

This is the first Players production of the school year; last year, the group presented three one-act original plays. Another group of one-acts is tentatively set for next semester. Players officers for the year are Clayton, president; Miss Wood, vice president; Miss Francis, secretary, and Amos, treasurer. Read, Emma Bell Barnhill and Mes Bailey are program committee members.

Drs. Skiles, Carr Attending Special Education Meeting

Dr. Jonah W. D. Skiles and Dr. W. L. Carr, of the ancient language department, are attending a special educational conference in Washington, D. C., today and tomorrow.

The conference was called by Dr. Earl J. McGrath, U. S. Commissioner of Education, in response to the thousands of letters he received following an address in St. Louis, Mo., last May, in which he suggested supplementing foreign language courses as electives in all elementary schools.

"This seems to be a phase of our educational program which has been somewhat neglected in the past," he said. "It is becoming increasingly evident," said Dr. McGrath, "that America's role of world leadership has created a need for a knowledge of foreign language by informed American citizens."

The conference, sponsored by the Office of Education, will be divided into four sections: aims and objectives, curriculum, administrative, and teacher education.

New Staff Named To Manage WBKY

WBKY will have an official student staff beginning next semester which will operate the radio station on a professional basis and according to a national station plan.

Ever since WBKY has been on the air students have announced, supervised, engineered, and furnished talent for the broadcasts. But this is the first time a student staff has been selected. Through this means students will learn how a radio station operates and will be better prepared to go into work following graduation.

The staff is composed of Jack McGeehan, station manager; Jim Coyle, program director; Betty Hume, production director; Tom Rogers, engineering supervisor; Ed Booher, news director; Bob Taylor, sports director; Bob Wilson, chief announcer; Gil Levitch, traffic manager; Ann Young, music librarian; and Doreen Banninger, special services.

The staff was announced at a dinner Wednesday in the UK radio studios.

Scene from "The Drunkard"—Four cast members of the Guignol Players' musical melodrama, "The Drunkard," portray a scene from the show, which will be presented at 8 o'clock tonight and Saturday night. Bill Eddy, in the title role, sits at the bar as Charles Neal, the innkeeper, watches. Lynn Deitelhoff, the barmaid, watches too—while Marshall Amos, as Mr. Rencelaw, a saintly reformer, registers his horror of all this sin and depravity. The play will be presented in the Laboratory Theater of the Fine Arts Building.

Phone Need In Men's Dorms Is Problem To Be Remedied

An attempt to do something about the lack of telephones in the men's residence halls will finally get under way next week with the appointing of a committee by the Student Government Association. Although something definitely must be done about the problem, the correct solution is not readily seen.

Only four telephones are available for the approximately 550 boys living in the dorms, and these are pay phones. Students desiring to use a phone at a busy time, such as at night, must wait in line for several minutes, and then must have nickels for the slot. If a boy is trying to call a girl living in one of the women's dormitories, he has to put a nickel in the telephone to get the University operator. If his line is busy, as is true in most cases, he loses his nickel. He has to get out of line, get another nickel, and wait again. Before he finally gets his girl, a boy may have to spend an hour waiting and a quarter for the phone.

When a boy living in the dorms is called, the call comes through a desk clerk in Bowman Hall. The clerk takes down the number and goes chasing all over the dorms to find the student. The boy has to call his number back over the pay phone, which presents the same two problems of waiting and money. If a call is urgent, that's just too bad.

The desk closes at 11 p.m., thus making it impossible to call anyone in the halls after that time, except through the director's office. Two of the pay phones are also made unavailable at this time.

Although Scott Street Barracks was not mentioned by SGA as being included in their investigation, we feel it is as much a problem there as in the dorms. The barracks, which houses about 340 students, has only one pay phone for use. However, the barracks, which has a public address system, has a better method of contacting students than do the dorms. But students deeply concentrating on studies are often disturbed by a loud blast on the speaker.

George Lawson, president of SGA, said he doubted the University would do anything about the phone shortage at the barracks, since the buildings are only temporary structures. But since it seems the barracks are being used more than just temporarily, additional phones should be placed there too.

Dr. Bennett H. Wall, director of the men's dorm, pointed out that if non-pay phones are put into the dorms, the students' rent will have to be increased. This would be unfair to the majority of students, he said, because only about a third of the boys in the dorms receive many phone calls. He suggested the best possibility would be to run two or three trunk lines into a switchboard in the dorms. Since the buildings are already wired, phones can be placed throughout the halls connected to the switchboard.

This suggestion appears valid to us and may be workable. Since the buildings are wired for a telephone system, the costs of installation should not be too expensive and should be paid by the University. After all, the dorms should be furnished with communication facilities.

The telephone problem will not be solved overnight by SGA or the Administration. But the investigation must not be stopped until an adequate solution is found and communications is made possible between the boys in the dorms and the outside world.

Is there a solution?

The Knapsack by Paul Knapp

Columnist Eavesdrops As Moms Play 'Bridge Of Sighs'

By PAUL KNAPP

"Oh, dear me, I did deal, didn't I. I guess I'll have to pass."

"That's all right, dearie. I didn't know how to play bridge either when I started taking care of my boys 22 years ago. One club."

"You should know them pretty well by now. One diamond."

"Girls, you know how I hate to brag about my boys, but I can safely say that there has not been one drunk in my house since I've been their housemother. One heart."

"But, honey, don't you think it clutters up the lawn — making them sleep outside every night. One spade."

"At least my boys don't engage in those uncouth snow-ball fights. Two clubs."

"Sissies. Two diamonds."

"I don't care if your boys have snow-ball fights or not; but the next time one of your little angels belts me in the back of the head with one, he's gonna get plastered right back. Two hearts."

"Now, girls, let's don't fuss. Boys will be boys, you know. Pass."

"And I guess all you girls are ready to welcome in a big flock of actives next semester. All of my pledges are going to make their standings. Isn't it wonderful. Three clubs."

"Pass."

"By me."

"All of my pledge class is doing well, too. Three spades."

"I'm so glad he's going to make it. Four clubs."

"By the way did you know that one of my boys got pinned last Friday night. Four diamonds."

"It was a beautiful pin. I saw it in the hock-shop window Saturday morning. Four hearts."

"But I've always said it's 'quality' in a pledge class that counts—not 'quantity.' Four spades."

"Oh, I have the most wonderful news. The president of my fraternity was made a member of Phi Beta Kappa. Five clubs."

"He ought to. He's been borrowing our tests since he was a freshman. Five diamonds."

"But after all, brains aren't everything. Have you seen the new car our president bought? It's a char-teruse convertible with a lavender top. It's the only one in town. Five hearts."

"You mean the one that always sits in front of Joe's Bar. He must really like television. Five spades."

"You mean bottled television. Ten bottles and he sees pink elephants in a wrestling match. Six clubs."

"Have you heard? We're going to get a new house next year. Won't that be splendid? Six diamonds."

"I'm so glad to hear that. I've been so afraid that the old barn you have now might cave in on you someday soon. Six hearts."

"What do you mean—'might cave in.' It's the only fraternity house on the campus that has a swimming pool in the basement that you can dive into from the third floor. Six spades."

"Let's face it, girls. We've a mighty important job taking care of our boys. We can't let them down. Seven clubs."

"Those poor little freshmen. Why, they can hardly blow their own noses—let alone feed themselves. It's all up to us to be a second mother to them. Seven diamonds."

"We've got to put our shoulders to the wheel and our noses to the grindstone—for our boys. Seven hearts."

"For better or for worse, in sickness or in health—they're our boys. Seven spades."

"Be it ever so humble, there's no place like our home-away-from-home. Seven no-trump."

"Double."

"Re-double."

"Pass."

"Punt."

"Whoever told the guy he was a prof. He just doesn't know how to teach the stuff. Everyone hates him. Every time he tries to explain something, he digresses so much that no one can understand what he's talking about. He ought to go back to the farm."

"Yeah, he flunked me, too."

SGA meets the first and third Mondays of each month at 7 p.m. As for a larger room, we'll see about that, but don't forget to come to the meetings.—Editor.

SGA Meetings Questioned

Dear Editor:

As far as my knowledge is concerned, the meetings of the Student Government Association are supposed to be open to the student body. If this is true, why aren't the proper accommodations made? Are they trying to hide something?

The meetings are held in Room 125 of the Student Union, which isn't even large enough to hold the Assembly members. No one ever knows where or when the meetings are held.

Our Readers Speak: Concerning Egypt, SGA

Dear Editor:

I wish to comment on an article published in your newspaper on Dec. 12, 1952, under the heading of "Syrians Think of U.S. As Portrayed in Films." In this article it was mentioned that Dr. Gifford Blyton, associate professor of speech and director of forensics, who is temporarily directing a special Department of State project in Damascus, Syria, said in a letter to the University, "We loved Damascus from the beginning. It is such a pleasant contrast to the dirt of Egypt."

This statement, "the dirt of Egypt," is very ambiguous, and I wish Dr. Blyton would have explained specifically what it means. I doubt that having an unpleasant experience with a camel driver in Egypt led Dr. Blyton to make such an "unscientific generalization." In the article it was stated that Dr. Blyton and his family spent a short time in Egypt while en route to Damascus. I would like to know which parts of Egypt Dr. Blyton was able to visit, in his short stay, that gave him the impression "the dirt of Egypt."

I would like to apologize to Dr. Blyton for the unpleasant experience he had in Egypt and wish to state that my unpleasant experience with porters in an airdrome in New York did not induce me to make generalizations regarding the U.S.

I hope you will publish this letter because I believe Dr. Blyton has misrepresented actual conditions in Egypt by making an unwarranted generalization.

We, the students, would like to be there, as spectators, to know what is going on and what decisions, for or against us, are being made. My fellow students and myself would like to suggest that the time and place of the Student Government Association's meetings be publicized and the meetings held in a larger room.

The Frying Pan

Professors Are Weird Creatures Concerning Tests

By KATHY FRYER

Some professors don't give tests, some don't grade the ones they give, but the majority who do both turn into weird creatures on the day they give them back.

The most pitiful is the Grim Weeper. He looks as sad as a jilted bride as he moans, "How could you do this to me after I've tried so hard to teach you the material?"

Your tears start flowing as hard as his when you see the grade he gave you.

The Naughty Boy thinks it's all a joke.

"Look what I put over on you," he grins puckishly. "You didn't think I'd ask a question about the footnotes, did you?"

His mental hotfoot was annoying enough, but the guy who makes you wish that murder were legal is his first cousin, the Fiend.

"Hee, hee, hee," he cackles as he closes the squeaking classroom door, "if any of you pass, it'll be a miracle. You ought to see the papers this time."

He goes over the test question by question.

"This is the way it should be done, but not many of you knew it," he confides diabolically, "Guess I'll be seeing most of you next semester."

If it weren't for two hour classes the campus would be as dead on Tuesday and Thursday as it is on Saturday.

You should never overlook the backbone of college life, clubs and club meetings. There's one for every student and a few more besides.

You can listen to panels and faculty speakers, elect officers, nibble cookies and have something to put on the dotted line after "activities" on your yellow registration card.

Apologies and Explanations Department:

When reviewing the past year in the last issue I meant to say "the basketball team was put under wraps," not the football team. Sloppy proofreading on my part. Sorry!

If you didn't know what quarantine I meant in the "Things UK Couldn't Do Without" paragraph, just walk in the dispensary. If you're not the mailman or the garbage collector, they'll stick a thermometer under your tongue and send you back for your pajamas if your temperature is much over 98.6. Not a bad precaution, but it doesn't take into consideration a possible fever due to a pretty nurse.

For cleaning suede shoes, try vinegar. Let it dry and brush hard. It works!

It's the last week before finals.

The seating arrangements, textbooks, and, if you're a lower classman, the students and professors that were so strangely new in September are old stuff now . . . you're used to seeing the same people as you cross campus between certain classes every other day . . . unfinished term papers get terrifyingly closer . . . the library vies with the grill for popularity . . . and by now you know all the gruesome details of the exam schedule as it affects you.

Close to 10,000 students are expected by 1960, the registrar says. Should get enough to fill the audience for Blazer Lectures then.

He was . . . as tight as a two dollar girdle, as beat up as a Student Union newspaper during the noon rush, and as sleepy as a night owl with insomnia.

"Why didn't you yell for help when he kissed you?"

"He didn't need any."

University Report Found Acceptable

According to a letter received by the UK Board of Trustees last month from the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, "the report on UK was found to be in good order, with the exception of intercollegiate athletics."

The letter was signed by J. M. Godard, executive secretary of the SACSS. The letter continued, quoting the minutes of an SACSS meeting Nov. 30 in Memphis:

"President Donovan took some time to explain the athletic difficulties which the University of Kentucky had experienced in recent months. He explained that the disclosures with regard to certain basketball players at UK were a great shock to all of those connected with the University."

"He went into this particular phase of the situation in some detail. President Donovan talked frankly with the committee about the action of the Southeastern Conference relative to the basketball team, and also its action with regard to two football players."

Social Events Go On Despite Final Exams

By Ann O'Roark

From one extreme to another! This Kentucky weather just can't seem to make up its mind if this is supposed to be January or almost June. Well, exams come both times, so I guess one time is just as bad as the other.

Even though the cloud of doom is hanging low, there are a few bright optimists who are planning to either celebrate before getting down to the hard studying or else are preparing to have a last fling like the condemned prisoner with his last dinner.

Tonight the Sig Eps are having a bang out at their house beginning at 8 p.m. sharp. Also, for those who prefer to travel in disguise, the Sigma Chi's are throwing a costume party. This gala fete will take place at 8 p.m. in their house. The ATOs, too, are having a formal dance at Joyland.

If it is an evening of dancing on the clouds with your favorite Cinderella or Prince Charming, the Kappa Alpha Theta's have just the thing for you. Saturday night at the Student Union they are holding their annual formal ball. The dance will be from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight, the witching hour which is very important this time because the theme of their ball will be "Cinderella." The "Troubadors" from Frankfort will provide the music for the evening.

The Phi Delt's have ushered in a "new deal" for the new year. Recently elected officers are Jack McDonald, president; Harry Alexander, vice-president; Alex Huguette, secretary; Bob Borders, treasurer; Dick Kessler, warden; and Steve Dummit and Billy Blake, social chairmen.

The Chi Omega's have also chosen their new powers-that-be. The leaders of this new regime are: Kim Sanford, president Ann O'Roark, vice-president; Sue Ann Hobgood, secretary; Pat Hervey, treasurer; and Donna Villesvick, house president.

Looking ahead, Keys, sophomore men's honorary, is already preparing for their big Valentine's Day Dance to be held Feb. 14. Tickets for this first big dance of the new semester will be on sale next week and can be purchased from any Keys member. The tickets will be $2.50 per couple and the dance will be informal. Clyde Trask and his orchestra will furnish the music.

'Campus Club' Is New Radio Show

"The Campus Club," a new audience-participation show over the UK radio station, will feature talent from all parts of the country and from all departments of the University.

The idea of the club came from the writer and master of ceremonies of the show, Jack Oldham. He started the first Campus Club at the Covington YMCA. Since then he has been working on the idea and has adopted it for radio.

The first show will feature Doreen Banninger, a native of Canada, and Archie Lee, folk singer. Guest singer will be Addie Toole of Dry Ridge, Ky.

Campus and world news will be broadcast by Bud Purdon. Music and background effects will be furnished by Jimmy Brown and his orchestra. Kim Sanford is co-producer, with Dave Wright as chief engineer.

Lillian

There is a continual flow of wonderful releases from RCA Victor's unlimited catalog and the Popular Collector's Issues, which are available on both Long Play and Extended Play 45, have much to offer you. For instance, This Is Duke Ellington contains a group of eight numbers recorded back in 1940, a period that many Ellington fans consider his greatest. All of the numbers in this collection, with the exception of Chloe, were written by Duke and all of the arrangements were done by him. Do Nothing Till You Hear From Me, one of his most popular works, which was first called Concerto for Cootie, is presented here in the original arrangement with Cootie Williams displaying both his open-horn and his famous growl-manner styles. Jack the Bear, Bojangles, Harlem Air Shaft, Warm Valley, Ko-Ko and Across the Tracks all add up to a terrific performance of a perfectly integrated unit. . . . This Is Tommy Dorsey was recorded in 1941, the period when his band not only had great musicians like Ziggy Elman and Buddy Rich, but also singers such as Jo Stafford, Frank Sinatra and Connie Haines. In this group we find This Love Of Mine, one of the great Sinatra vocals, Embraceable You, the song that established Jo Stafford; Connie Haines doing an expert job on What Is This Thing Called Love and others equally good. Small wonder this great Dorsey group was a smash hit everywhere. Drop in at our Record Department so Mary Jo and I can tell you about these and many others in this swell series. . . . Come and see us. . . .

Known Stars Lead In '52 Record Sales

By PAUL COWLEY

Based on total number of records sold, the record industry had one of its best years in 1952. Established artists remained top choices with the platter buying public. Kay Starr's whopping "Wheel of Fortune" proved to be one of Capitol's all time best selling discs.

Jo Stafford led the Columbia lists with three big ones: "Jambalaya,"

"Shrimp Boats" and "You Belong To Me." A consistent seller, Patti Page broke with "I Went To Your Wedding" in the last three months of the year. Nat "King" Cole's musicianship and unique styling kept him among the leaders with his "Somebody Along the Way," "Unforgettable" and "Walkin' My Baby Back Home."

Unable to get another "Little White Cloud" in tow Johnny Ray tied into an up tempo tune, "Walkin' My Baby Back Home" for his best effort in '52. Les Paul and Mary Ford turned in a tremendous volume of records sold behind such numbers as "Hold Me In Your Arms," "Meet Mr. Callahan," and "Lady of Spain."

Pacing the Victor label through the whole year, Eddie Fisher firmly established himself as a recording personality. "Wish You Were Here" was his top effort followed by "Lady of Spain."

Among the newer artists Rosemary Clooney and Guy Mitchell proved themselves by repeating their 1951 success. The versatile Miss Clooney found high favor with two widely different types of styling on "Boch-A-Me" and "Half-As-Much."

Featuring unique material and individual interpretation Guy Mitchell repeated with "Feet Up" and "Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania." Don Cornell on Coral and Al Martino on Capital boomed the big voice idea into prominence with "I'm Yours" and "Here I'm My Heart," respectively.

Top novelty of '52 was Johnny Standley's "It's in the Book" for Capitol. As the year ended, newcomer Joni James on MGM was headed for a hit with "Why Don't You Believe Me" and Perry Como was doing okay with "Don't Let the Stars Get in Your Eyes."

What will happen this year? Who will be the new stars? Only time will tell.

Engagements, Marriages Keep Depleting UK Ranks

It looks like 1953 is going to deplete the UK ranks quite a bit before it is through. The engagement rings are glittering everywhere and the wedding bells keep chiming.

Alice Fisher received her emerald cut engagement ring via mail Tuesday afternoon—all the way from California and points farther west. Miss Fisher will marry H. Edward McMillian, ensign, USN, on March 5. Miss Fisher is a senior in physical education and secretary of the Chi Omega sorority. Ensign McMillian is a graduate of William and Mary College and is now stationed at Long Beach, Calif. Both are from Athens, Tenn. The wedding will take place in Glendale, Calif., with just the families present.

The wedding of Jewel Garey, a student at Henry Clay, and Bob Horine, Phi Kappa Tau, will be on Jan. 24 at the Park Methodist Church.

Last Saturday night Mary Ann Barnett, Alpha Gamma Delta, and Douglas Allgood were married in Jeffersonville. Miss Barnett is a senior and Mr. Allgood was graduated last June. He was a member of Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity and is now an officer in the Air Force stationed at Ft. Knox. Mrs. Allgood plans to finish her studies here this spring.

Jean Fraser became engaged Christmas eve to Paul Patrick. Miss Fraser is a sophomore in the Arts and Sciences College and a member of Delta Zeta sorority. Mr. Patrick is a member of Triangle from Irvine. They plan to be married next December in Lexington.

Joan Van Beber has announced her engagement to Clary Range. Miss Van Beber is a senior in education and a member of Delta Zeta sorority. They are planning a June wedding in Corbin.

Nancy Carraco and Normand Markham are also engaged. Miss Carraco is a freshman and a pledge to Delta Zeta sorority. They are planning a wedding in June, too.

Shirley Maxwell has become engaged to Don Batten. Miss Maxwell is a senior and a member of the Chi Omega sorority. Mr. Batten was an ATO and is now serving as an officer in the Air Force. No date has been set for their wedding.

Nancy Unsworth, KKG, has announced her engagement to Paul Blanketer, SAE. The wedding will take place Jan. 31 in Lexington.

Art Professors Exhibit Works

Exhibits of the art works of Miss Mary Adams Holmes and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Zalon are currently being shown in the Fine Arts Gallery and will continue to be on display through Jan. 30.

Twenty-seven pen and pencil drawings and paintings in colored inks are included in the exhibition of Miss Holmes, while 30 drawings and gouache paintings by Mr. and Mrs. Zalon comprise the other display.

Miss Holmes is professor of art at Ohio State University, where she has served on the faculty since 1947. Prior to accepting her position at the Ohio school, Miss Holmes did graduate work at the State University of Iowa and studied in Germany.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Zalon are graduates of the Cooper Union Art School, New York. Mr. Zalon did graduate work at the University of Wyoming. Two years ago he presented a one-man show at the Art Center Gallery, Louisville.

Both of the present exhibitions were brought to Lexington direct from the Little Gallery, Louisville. The displays have been described by the UK department of art as "a rich and varied array of work by younger artists engaged in teaching."

Local Art Exhibit Will Open Feb. 4

Dr. Donald L. Wiesman, head of the UK art department, announced today that the 21st Annual Exhibition by Artists of Lexington and Central Kentucky will be held Feb. 4 through Feb. 24.

All artists in Central Kentucky may enter the exhibition and may submit as many as five entries in any of the following categories: painting, drawing, prints, and sculpture. All paintings, drawings, and prints must be suitably framed.

All entries should be delivered to the Department of Art before Jan. 29. Entries will be judged on Jan. 30-31. No entrance fee will be charged, and no prizes will be awarded.

A qualified out-of-state juror will select those works to be included in the exhibition.

COLONEL Of The Week

In a sympathetic salute to those who have burned these many gallons of midnight oil, the Stirrup Cup is proud to present one of their conferees, Don Allan Clayton, as Colonel of the Week.

Don is from Louisville, a drama student with a 2. graduate standing. He transferred to UK from the University of Louisville in September, 1951; at UL his activities included membership in Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, the newspaper staff, two theater groups, the Latin-American Club and a social dance group. He is now president of Guignol Players, student drama group.

Don has been in almost every Guignol production since he came here. He was Biff in "Death of a Salesman," the last play; was the jailer in "Der Fledermaus," the summer opera; and played assorted roles as a butler, a lover and a fop in other shows.

"The Drunkard," which Don adapted, directed and has written the music for, opens tonight at the Lab theater in the Fine Arts building. For these outstanding achievements, and with best wishes for a successful opening, the Stirrup Cup invites Don to enjoy any two of its many luscious meals.

Hagan, Ramsey Lead Squads In Intra-squad Game Monday

By JOHN RYANS

It will be Hagan vs. Ramsey when the teams captained by these two All-Americans meet Monday night in the second game of a Memorial Coliseum basketball doubleheader.

This will be the second intra-squad game of the season for the charges of Coach Adolph Rupp, who are unable to participate in a regular schedule this season because of suspension from the NCAA.

Two evenly matched teams have been selected by Cliff Hagan and Frank Ramsey to meet each other in what should be a very exciting contest. The meeting of these two great UK players on opposite teams will be reminiscent of earlier high school struggles when Hagan was playing for Owensboro Senior High and Ramsey was pacing the Madisonville High quintet. Each player has selected seven other players to form eight-man squads from the top sixteen players on this year's varsity squad.

The remaining members of this year's squad will tangle in a preliminary game starting at 7 p.m. There will be six players on each of these two squads, who meet in the first game.

Coach Rupp decided to have Ramsey and Hagan choose teams in order to give the fans a closer contest. In the first intra-squad game of the season he pitted the Freshmen against the Varsity and although it was an interesting contest, it wasn't as close as many fans would have preferred.

In the first intra-squad game played this season the Varsity downed the Freshmen by a score of 76-45. Hagan with 19, Ramsey with 16, and Lou Tsioropoulos with 14 paced the victorious Varsity, while Clay Evans with 11 and Phil Grawemeyer with 9 were high point men for the Freshmen. However, the contest was more interesting than the score indicated for the Freshmen came back after a slow first half and were only outscored by four points in the final two quarters.

The lineup for Cliff Hagan's squad in Monday night's encounter will be chosen from an eight man squad that includes Lou Tsioropoulos, Ronnie Clark, Gayle Rose, Clay Evans, Jess Curry, Hugh Coy, and Jim Duff. Rose, Evans, and Curry are normally guards, while Clark and Hagan are centers, and Coy, Tsioropoulos, and Duff are forwards.

Ramsey's lineup will be selected from the following: Bill Evans, Jerry Bird, Phil Grawemeyer, Linville Puckett, Willie Rouse, Bill Bibb, and Pete Grigsby. Ramsey, Rouse, Puckett, and Grigsby usually operate at the guard position, while Evans and Bibb are forwards and Bird is a center. Grawemeyer plays either forward or center.

The boys pictured above will form the nucleus of Coach Algine Reece's 1953 swimming squad. The first test for the squad will be with Miami of Ohio this afternoon at the Coliseum. From left to right, first row, are Lou Karibo, John Burke, Bruce Kunkel; second row, Gene Lewis, George King, Jack MacDonald, Dick Dedmon, Roger Messick, and Jim McCabe; third row, Kenneth Glass, Graham McCauley, Don Bowman, Dick Dean, Glen Thompson, Dave Linkous, and Dan Smith. Jack Taylor was not present for the picture.

UK Swimmers Open Season Today With Miami Of Ohio

By Quentin Allen

Coach Algine Reece's swimming proteges meet their first 1953 competition when they battle Miami, of Ohio, today, 4:30 p.m. and Emory, tomorrow, at 3:00 p.m. at the Memorial Coliseum.

Admission to the two meets will be 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for high school students. I-D cards will admit University students.

Coach Reece described his swimming team as one of the largest and best squads ever on hand. However, he added later that one of the defects of the squad was its lack of depth. He commented that the team needed another sprinter and a breast stroke man to round out the squad.

Backstroke George King, sophomore from Louisville, is being counted on heavily in coming contests. King, a transfer from Transylvania College, has become eligible only this year. Diver Lou Karibo, who performs on both the high and low board, is expected to net his share of wins. Coach Reece is counting on Roger Messick, former prep school free style all-state in Va., in prep school SEC, and All-American freestyler. Messick enrolled in school as a gridder but football Coach Jerry Claiborne persuaded Messick to switch to swimming.

The roster of the team: John Burke, sprinter and diver; Dickie Deane, 220 and 440 yd. dash; Kenneth Glass, sprinter, 220 yd. and 440 yd. dash; Lou Karibo, diver, high and low board; George King, back stroke; Bruce Kunkel, 220 yd. and 440 yd. dash; Gene Lewis, 220 yd. and 440 yd. dash; Dave Linkous, breast stroke; Graham McCauley, 220 and 440 yd. dash; Jim McCabe, all free style events; Jack McDonald, back stroke; Roger Messick, 50 and 100 yd. sprints; Dan Smith, short distance man; John Taylor, 220 and 100 yd. dash; and Glen Thompson, freestyler.

The team is hampered by the series of injuries now afflicting team members. Bruce Kunkel, who has a dislocated elbow, cannot be expected to show best form for some time, Coach Reece commented. Graham McCauley, who had shown real promise, dislocated his shoulder at the end of last Monday's practice, and may be out for the year.

Schedule for the coming year:
Jan. 16 — Miami — (high board) — Home
Jan. 17 — Emory — (high board) — Home
Jan. 24 — Vanderbilt — (high board) — Home
Jan. 31 — Cincinnati — (low board) — Away
Feb. 7 — Tennessee — (low board) — Away
Feb. 14 — Eastern Ky. — (low board) — Home
Feb. 21 — Tennessee — (low board) — Home
Feb. 25 — Berea — (low board) — Home

Feb. 28 — Open — (low board)
May 2 — Eastern, Ky. — Away.
May 5, 6, 7 — SEC Championship — Nashville, Tenn.

Price Named Track Captain

Dwight "Speedie" Price has been elected captain of the 1953 track squad to succeed Jay Wallace.

Price led the UK cross country squad this year to a very successful season. The team finished second in the Southeastern Conference meet, second in the Shamrock Run in Louisville, second in a triangular meet with DePauw and Butler, a win in a triangular meet with Berea and Morehead, and one sweet victory over Tennessee in a dual meet.

Price began his career at UK on Coach Rupp's basketball squad but changed to the cinder paths. He ran second in the SEC meet last spring in the mile run.

Speedie was all state in basketball in 1948, playing for University High. In 1948, he won the State Mile Championship and in 1949, he repeated that feat and added the half mile crown.

He is one of Coach Seaton's seniors this spring and will be counted on heavily to supply punch expected to be lacking in the dash events.

Officer: "Is this the first night you ever slept in a tent?"
Rookie: "I don't know yet, sir."

Sports Sidelights

By TOM EASTERLING

Since the NCAA has caused the Kernel to deemphasize sports for the current season we would like to take this opportunity to give this organization a little publicity (adverse that is).

First we must determine what is the NCAA. The National Collegiate Athletic Association is composed of approximately 375 colleges, universities and athletic conferences. It came into being in 1905, when there was concern over many serious injuries to football players. The infant NCAA was instrumental in rewriting and tightening football rules which effectively reduced game casualties.

From the beginning, the NCAA has devoted itself to the promotion of uniform standards of intercollegiate athletics administration and competition, based on a premise that undergraduate athletics are an integral part of the function of an educational institution.

How many of the 375 colleges have national fame in athletics? Another example that proves that the NCAA is nothing more than a group of politicians is the fact that they didn't allow the Ohio Valley Conference one of the automatic bids for the NCAA basketball championship playoffs, yet they did give one to the Mid-American Conference which is due to fold any day. In the past the winner of the OVC championship has been ranked among the top 15 teams in the country. Now the selection committee can offer the OVC winner one of the at-large bids if they so desire.

Do the present day members of the NCAA believe that intercollegiate athletics are an integral part of the functions of an educational institution? If they do, then why was UK suspended for one year? Is the present student body guilty of some wrong? It must be this reason that the University has been placed on probation, whether it has been made public or not. If this isn't the answer then we must believe that the only reason that UK was not allowed the same privilege that was given Bradley, to play a schedule and not compete in the championship playoffs, was because the NCAA didn't want to be embarrassed by being forced to crown a second rate champion while UK was rated far above any team that could possibly win the title.

The restricted TV plan is designed, according to the NCAA to prevent over-commercialization—the placing of "irresistible premiums of successful teams." Robert Hall, chairman of the NCAA television committee, expressed the fear, in an American Forum of the Air debate on November 9, 1952, that might give rise to "15 or 20" giants monopolizing the airways. By coincidence, this is almost exactly the number of teams now participating in the restricted TV program.

Despite its objective "broad participation," the NCAA television committee this year drew up a plan that had fewer, rather than more participants than in 1951—20 games and 30 teams last year as compared with 11 games and 22 teams this season.

We do not know what is needed to alleviate this situation. Many plans have been expressed all the way from a commissioner to putting it in the hands of a scholastic accrediting agency. Maybe one of these plans would solve the problem of eliminating the politics that have become so prevalent in the NCAA organization.

Three Promising Frosh Bolster Cage Roster

Linville Puckett—Puckett is a 6 ft., 165 lb., 19 year old, guard from Winchester. He is well known throughout the state for the outstanding ability he showed as a member of Coach Letcher Norton's Clark County Cardinals. He played on the Clark County varsity five years (counting one year played while he was in the eighth grade).

Puckett was one of the chief factors in Clark County's winning of the State Championship in 1951. He was selected on the All-State Tournament team and the Courier-Journal All-State team three times, and was selected on the All-District team four times. He is majoring in agriculture here.

Dick Richards—Richards is a 6-5½, 205 lb., 18 year old, center-forward from Frankfort. He played high school basketball for Coach J.

W. Smith at Elkhorn High School. Richards played on the Elkhorn varsity for four years and was the captain of the team during his senior year. Not only did Richards play basketball at Elkhorn, but also played end on the football team for one season. He is majoring in commerce here.

Phillip E. "Cookie" Grawmeyer—Grawmeyer is one of the biggest of the new men here at UK this year, standing 6-7½ and weighing 180. He had the opportunity of playing for two outstanding young coaches, Dale Barnstable and Jack Burmaster, at Manual High School of Louisville.

He was captain of Manual last year and one of the pace-setters that led them to runners-up in last year's state tournament held in Memorial Coliseum.

I-M Roundup

Fourteen Qualifiers In Freethrow Finals

Intramural free throw competition got under way Monday night as 103 participants out of over 203 entries competed. Fourteen qualified with eighteen or better out of twenty-five.

Ches Riddle (SAE) and Ted Phillips (AGR) led all qualifiers with 23 each. Other qualifiers included: Jim McCabe (SN) 22; Hayes Crowley (Ind.) 21; E. T. Kash (AGR) 21; "Speedy" Rose (PDT) 20; and Jim Taylor (SAE), W. Coleman (SAE), John Dicken (KS), Warren Knight (AGR), Bill Boggs (SX), Jim Sandridge (PKA), George Stone (KA); all with nineteen successes out of twenty-five.

Each participant was allowed to shoot until he made one and then finish his twenty-five from that point. One entry shot for fifteen minutes with no success and decided to give up. All in all over 2600 shots were taken at the basket Monday night.

The finals were last night in Alumni Gym. Qualifying scores were added to the scores made last night and the one making the highest total score was declared the winner. The I-M practice schedule for next week has been posted on the bulletin board on the second floor of the Alumni Gym. About thirty squads are working out regularly in the improved setup for practices. The Coliseum floors and the Alumni courts are both being used to facilitate the improvement in squads representing the various organizations.

The clinic being held each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon by Coach Rupp, is working out well according to observers. Managers from most of the squads plus the captains are being taught basketball fundamentals ala Rupp.

Practices and the clinic will continue until final exams get under way.

The following is a schedule of practice sessions. Any team wishing to sign up for any of the empty periods should see Bill McCubbin in the Intramural office.

Track Squad Begins Prep

Spring has arrived early on the UK campus for Coach Don Seaton's track squad.

Most of the distance men are taking full advantage of the semi-spring weather in preparation for two meets coming up in the next two and one-half months.

Tentatively, six members of the squad are planning to travel to Panama City, Florida, for the mid semester vacation to complete training for the Michigan State Relays to be held in East Lansing, Mich., Feb. 14. This trip will be strictly on their own.

The boys making the excursion are, Ray Jones, Jay Wallace, Dwight "Speedie" Price, Frank Scott, Charlie Wells and Doug Adamson. The latter two are only tentatively planning to go.

Following the Michigan State meet will be the annual Southern Conference Indoor Relays. This is the meet in which Wallace won the 880 yard run last year and Price finished third in the mile run against stiff competition.

Coach Seaton asks that any boys interested in track this year, see him in his office in the Physical Education department.

MEET YOURSELF— 10 YEARS FROM NOW

Ever wonder what you'll be like when the class of '53 holds its 10th reunion? If you started to work for one of the Bell System telephone companies after graduation, here's a pretty good idea.

POSITION IN THE WORLD: On the way up! A Commercial Manager, the company's representative and spokesman to as many as fifty thousand customers. A Transmission Engineer, helping to provide the telephone needs of an entire state. A Supervisor in the Traffic Department, responsible for the speed and quality of local and long distance service in several cities and for the personnel relations of a large number of employees. In the telephone company, jobs such as these are held by relatively young men and women.

FUTURE: Unlimited! The Bell System continually progresses and expands and its personnel grows with it. In the past 25 years, the number of telephones has almost tripled. In the past 5 years, telephone companies have introduced such things as network television transmission, radiotelephone service and dialing of Long Distance calls. And the best is yet to come.

FRAME OF MIND: Confident and proud! You'll be satisfied because you have a rewarding job...not only in pay and security...but in service. You'll be proud of your share in helping provide and develop a telephone service vital to the country's social and economic life.

Like the picture? For further information see your Placement Officer. He will be glad to give you details regarding the opportunities for employment in the Bell System.

Then And NowFormer Football Players
Help Spark Service Team

Wilbur "Shorty" Jamerson, quarterback, Dom Fucci, safety man, and John Ignarski, guard, on the Bowling Air Force Base football team, helped spark that team's victory over the San Diego Naval Training Center team Dec. 20 for the national Armed Forces championship.

The three former UK stars teamed up with Al Dorrow, former Michigan State great to defeat the naval team 35-14.

Brown Lee Yates III, '48, is now on the staff of the Capital Gazette Press, Inc., Annapolis, Md. His wife, the former Jeanne Renaker, and daughter, Martha Don, will join him later at Glen Burnie, Md., a suburb of Baltimore.

The Navy League's award of merit, given annually to a Navy man whose services have contributed to the national defense but have not been recognized otherwise, was awarded in December to Lt. Com. Frederick J. Lewis Jr., '42, of Lexington.

Burl Smith St. Clair, '38, Grayson county farmer, is the new president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation. St. Clair, who lives on a 388-acre farm near Falls of Rough, received his B.S. degree in agriculture from the University.

Paul R. Combs, '36, of Middletown, Ohio, is sales representative for the Warren Steel Corporation of that city. Dr. Murray Raney, '09, of Chattanooga, Tenn., has presented a gift of $500 to the Kentucky Research Foundation for the engineering scholarship fund.

William E. Scent, 28, of Danville, a 1950 graduate of the University, has been named back-tax collector for the state by Revenue Commissioner Robert H. Alphin. Since January, 1951, Mr. Scent has been a member of the department's legal staff.

Joseph B. Shelby, '10, is vice president of the Driver-Harris Co. of Harrison, N. J. He and Mrs. Shelby make their home at 307 Wyoming Ave., Maplewood, N. J.

Dr. Murray Raney, '09, of Chattanooga, Tenn., has presented a gift of $500 to the Kentucky Research Foundation for the engineering scholarship fund.

A. B. Duncan, '52, of Louisville, has opened a new drug store in Jackson, Ky. It will be known as Jackson's Pharmacy.

Lloyd Willis, of Henderson, and his wife, have purchased Grasty's Drug Store of that city. Both are graduates of the UK College of Pharmacy and both are registered pharmacists. They formerly lived in Winchester.

PARITZChurch News*Panel Report Is Scheduled For Westminster Meeting

A panel report by three participants in the United Student Christian Council's quadrennial study conference will be given to the Westminster Fellowship at their meeting Sunday night.

The group will meet at 5:30 p.m. for supper at Maxwell Street Presbyterian Church, hold a worship service at 6:30 p.m. and then hear the report by Carol Sue Caton, Westminster program committee chairman; Norma Devine, and Barbara Hall, YWCA secretary.

The conference was held during Christmas vacation at Morgan State College in Baltimore, Md.

An interdenominational study group on "The University, the Church and the World Struggle" will be held at Hanna House at 10 a.m. Saturday. All students are welcome to participate, the Rev. Yandell Page, advisor, said.

Wesley Foundation
Wesleyites will have a chili supper at 6 p.m. Sunday at First Methodist Church, followed by an informal discussion and a recreation period.

Disciple Student Fellowship
A hobo party will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in Fellowship Hall at Central Christian Church by Disciple Student Fellowship members. Esco Hankins had his Tennesseans will play for square dancing.

John Paul Witte, chairman of the fellowship committee, said that a door prize will be awarded and that proceeds from a fifty cent "cover charge" will go to the group's service project, the Christian World Friendship Fund.

Sunday, a student panel will conclude a three-part program on "The Good Life" at 6 p.m. at the church. Members will be Alice Porter, College of the Bible; Leslie Smith Jr., Transylvania College; Mrs. Gentry Shelton, Central Christian Church, and Bruce Poundstone, UK.

Baptist Student Union
BSU members will hold an informal sing-spiration at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Center.

University Accepts Gifts Totalling $611

The UK Board of Trustees has accepted gifts for the University totaling $611.

A gift of $500 was presented by Dr. Murray Raney, Chattanooga, Tenn., to the Kentucky Research Foundation for the Engineering Scholarship Fund. An anonymous gift of $111 was accepted for the Rare Book Fund of the University Libraries.

UK Junior Named On College Board

Kathy Fryer, a junior majoring in journalism, has been selected to represent UK on the 1953 Made-moelle College Board.

Winners in the contest, open to all college women in the United States, were picked on the basis of a 1,000 word criticism of the August issue of the magazine.

Miss Fryer will compete with the 700 other College Board members for one of 20 all-expense trips to New York next June as a guest editor.

Guest Editors will be decided on the basis of three assignments published in the magazine between now and May.

Miss Fryer is a member of Chi Delta Phi, creative writing honorary, and a pledge of Alpha Delta Pi and Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary.

There are few places where the technical graduate can utilize his training more fully than in the rapidly evolving field of aircraft propulsion. Our engineers are constantly exploring new areas of knowledge. Thus their work is varied and interesting, and they find good opportunities for professional advancement.

If you are looking for challenging work—for a real future in engineering—for real living in New England—why not talk to our visiting engineers.

There may be a place for you in experimental testing and development work . . . in performance and structure analysis . . . in mechanical designing . . . in analysis and development work on controls and systems . . . in work on heat transfer and applied research problems.
